GLAUCOMA CLINICAL KNOWLEDGE EVALUATION

New unique online program

The ACO-CKE Glaucoma Clinical Knowledge Evaluation is a unique online evidence based program for optometrists. It enables optometrists to self assess their knowledge of Glaucoma and their ability to provide an initial diagnosis of the condition within a simulated and timed patient consultation. It is designed as a self reflective educational tool and is valuable for optometrists who seek to identify learning opportunities and to test their skills against their peers and industry standards.

The program, developed by the ACO in consultation with the wider optometry community, has been piloted by registered optometrists (including ACO members) and aims to ultimately support the delivery of best practice eye health care.

How is this different?

The program aims to simulate aspects of a typical patient consultation and provides immediate results against 9 skill sets. A series of 90 questions are tested based on real and practical patient case studies within a timed environment. Once finished the optometrist is provided with a results report showing their individual score against each skill and an overall total score. It also provides options for further education to help address any learning opportunities and skill development needs. Participants are able to re sit the program within 12 months following further study to reassess their progress.
